Legislator Anker Encourages Residents to Support Long Island Farmers

Rocky Point, NY, July 2014 – Legislator Anker invites residents to shop local and support Long Island’s farmers and artisans at the Rocky Point Farmers Market.

Located at the corner of Broadway and Prince Road in Rocky Point, the market is open on Sundays from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and will run until late November. As in previous years, residents will be able to enjoy organic vegetables, all-natural poultry, handmade jewelry, and locally-brewed beer.

“Long Island is home to the largest farming community in New York State and many of the farms are family-owned,” said Legislator Anker. “The Farmers Market is a wonderful opportunity for local residents to learn about Suffolk County’s agricultural community and help to strengthen the Long Island economy.”
